

Annual Learning Mentor Conference

Target audience

All existing or aspiring Learning Mentors from Secondary, Primary and Special schools. Where possible we recommend that Learning Mentors attend with either a class teacher or member of SLT from their school to enhance the impact for pupils from the conference upon return to school (10% discount for this second place)

Description

For our 2017 Annual Learning Mentor Conference we are delighted to welcome back Jenny Mosley as our Keynote Speaker.

Aims

The conference commences with an inspiring keynote speech after which delegates will move onto the workshops. There will also be opportunities to network with colleagues in similar roles and share experiences.

Approach

A range of workshops will be on offer:

- Boosting Self Esteem
- Wellbeing of Adults and Children
- Healing Trauma
- Loss and Bereavement (including separation/divorce)

About the Speaker/Workshop Facilitators

Jenny Mosley - Jenny is a highly acclaimed author and trainer both in the UK and Internationally. She has worked with governments and advisors on how to create emotionally intelligent schools. Jenny taught on a master's degree for many years at Bristol University supervising a range of action research projects on the importance of circletime and building children's self-esteem. She is consultant to an ongoing Quality Circle Time project in India and wrote the circletime guidance for SEAD and SEAL.

Sue Bell – Sue Bell is the Founder and Clinical Director of Kids Inspire a children's charity that provides bespoke therapeutic support packages for children, young people and their families. Although clients bring a wide range of issues to Kids Inspire, Sue and her team are specialists in supporting those who have experienced trauma, abuse and neglect. Sue is a qualified Teacher, Counsellor, and Child and Adolescent Psychotherapist
